No. 76-CR-76-C

Jack C. Silver, Clerk
U. S. DISTRICT COURT

The Court has before it for consideration the motion of the defendant, Larry Dean Jesenka, for a reudcion of sentence, filed pro se pursuant to Rule 35 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. The defendant entered a plea of guilty to an indictment charging him with a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 495, and on July 23, 1976, the Court placed him on probation for a period of three (3) years. The defendant's probation was revoked on August 23, 1977, and on August 30, 1977, the Court sentenced him to treatment and supervision pursuant to the Youth Corrections Act (Y.C.A.), 18 U.S.C. § 5010(b), until discharged by the United States Parole Commission as provided in 18 U.S.C. § 5017.

The defendant contends that he has received two sentences, and that the sentence imposed after the probation revocation was more harsh than the first. The defendant is clearly in error. On July 23, 1976 the Court suspended the imposition of sentence and advised the defendant as follows:

"THE COURT: Now, I want to make it clear that the Court has not imposed a sentence. In the event you violate the conditions of probation, the Court will then impose an institutional sentence and will order that you be confined to the custody of the Attorney General for such a period as it then believes is appropriate term. Do you understand?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir."

(Sentencing Transcript, p. 7)

The defendant asks the Court to reduce the sentence imposed pursuant to the Youth Corrections Act. However, the Court has no discretion as to the amount of time to be served under a YCA sentence. Title 18 U.S.C. § 5017 places upon the United States Parole Commission the sole responsibility to determine, subject to statutory maximums, the length of imprisonment under a YCA sentence. Courts are without authority to invade the statutory authority of the Parole Commission or to modify the terms of imprisonment dictated by the Congress under YCA sentences.

However, even if the Court did have the power to modify the term of imprisonment served under a YCA sentence, it would not choose to do so. Under the circumstances of this case, the Court believes that the sentence imposed was appropriate, just and reasonable.

It is so Ordered this 14th day of November, 1977.
